Oldham County Homemakers

Through a variety of programs and activities, homemakers improve the well-being of themselves, their family, and their community.

What is KEHA?

The Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association (KEHA) is a volunteer organization that works to improve the quality of life for families and communities through leadership development, volunteer service, and education.

The organization was developed in cooperation with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

Across the state, county Family & Consumer Sciences Extension Agents work closely with KEHA members and clubs to provide educational programming and coordinate community activities.
